COOLIDGE CONFERS ON FRENCH SITUATION PINOLE CARNIVAL OPENS TODAY

CARNIVAL AND EXPOSITION AT PINOLE OPENS

Make Plans to Accommodate at Least 30,000 at Carnival
Which Opens Today

Promising to surpass the event of last year, the Second Annual Industrial Exposition and Carnival opens in Pinole today. For the remainder of the week, all Contra Costa county roads will lead to Pinole where plans are being made to accommodate a crowd of at least 30,000.

A huge tent, 150 feet in length, has been erected in the Pinole civic center and it is here that the greater part of the exposition will be held. Amusements consist of side shows, vaudeville, concessions and street parades. There will be a giant ferris wheel. Industrial exhibits from all sections of the county will be represented.

Interest throughout the county is centered in the contest for queen of the carnival. Contestants have entered from Pinole, Hercules, San Pablo, Crockett and other communities. No knowledge of the leading candidates will be learned until Thursday night when the voters will cast their ballots. The candidates have worked earnestly for the coveted honors and the race is expected to be a close one.

The closing event of the Carnival will be on Saturday. A masked ball and Mardi Gras will be held in the opera house, with all the true spirit of the carnival ruling. The queen and her court will preside.

On the same night, a Portuguese Chamarrita will be held in the U. P. E. C. hall.

Bartlett Pear Season Closes In the Valley

MARTINEZ, Aug. 10.—The Bartlett pear season has practically closed, according to an announcement made today by John F. Swett, Alhambra valley pear grower. Ninety cars were shipped from Muir by the Pioneer Fruit company and Twenty-seven by Sogbel & Day.

Two crops were handled by Sogbel & Day, those from the Swett and Burnham orchards, which were purchased outright. The Pioneer Fruit company shipped the mainly on consignment.

A large loss was sustained this year by the growers by the necessity of wiping all pears free of spray residue. The cost for doing this by hand was about eight or nine cents a box and next year automatic wipers will be used and will reduce the cost to about two cents.

Claims Co-ed Sister Stole Her Husband

Wife in Divorce Complaint
Says Pomona College Sister
Stole Husband From Her

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—An intimate personal diary, filled with burning words of love and passion, written by her sister, was the evidence offered by Mrs. Florence M. Hopkins in securing a divorce from Charles Hopkins in the Superior Court here today.

Mrs. Hopkins testified that her sister, Miss Bora Lynn, a co-ed at Pomona College, and her husband, a manufacturers agent, are now living together as man and wife in Los Angeles.

Excerpts from the diary was introduced to substantiate Mrs. Hopkins charges that her own sister has wrecked her home, follows: "To this man who is all kindness and sympathy I have promised my life. I love him. I have given him all that I possess. I have entrusted myself into his keeping."

"Out of this beautiful white body of mine that still is soft as the clay in the sculptor's fingers—with which he can mould a creature, rich in life, beautiful, serene and abounding in those supreme joys of motherhood."

"I see this man as no else can. He is the man I want to bear children for, to suffer for, to make happy. Our lives are surrounded by a will of passionate love."

On July 24, 1924:

"To me the only thing that matters now is love. I have no shame! False report or accusation means nothing to me."

Leaves Estate To University

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Aug. 10.—"Society has not changed essentially since the stone age era."

"So-called college education is not real education at all—it is a Hodge-Podge of academic teaching that produces fly-paper memories but does not create self-dependability, initiative or success."

"I believe every man should turn over his property to the community in which he is interested, when his time to die comes."

Explaining his action with the above declarations, William H. Smyth, noted economist, scientist, inventor and author, today announced the gift to the University of California of his princely estate, "Fernwald." The estate is valued at $200,000.

"My use for the property will end when I die," Smyth said. "I hadn't a dime when I came to California; so California has given me what I have. Now I give it back to this community. This is a forward step that society needs."

TO ESTABLISH AIR COMMERCE FOR COUNTRY

Hoover Announces Commercial
Aviation for the Nation Will Be Developed

(By M. L. RAMSAY)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Opening a new era in air transportation in America, Secretary of Commerce Hoover today announced a far-reaching program to establish commercial aviation in the forefront of the Nation's industries. Hoover's announcement followed the appointment by President Coolidge of William F. MacCracken, of Chicago as assistant secretary of commerce for aviation.

Swift development of this program will be begun at once by MacCracken when he takes office tomorrow.

A vast network of air routes will be mapped to serve as highways for passenger and freight transport and the air mails, and as a vital part of the national defense. Outstanding among the projects outlined by Hoover were:

1. Creation of a nation wide chain of illuminated and marked landing fields, equipped with emergency lighting, to serve all branches of the government, concerned with aviation as well as commercial air carriers. This will be carried out by a new division of navigational aids to be set up at once by the Bureau of Light-houses.

2. Establishment of a new division in the Coast and Geographic Survey for mapping air routes for all services, with material already accumulated by the Army air corps, providing a basis for the work.

3. Extensive research, through a new division in the Bureau of Standards, to bring radio direction finding, lighting and other aids to air navigation to the highest scientific perfection.

4. Safety inspection and registration of aircraft, development of rules for air navigation, licensing of pilots for interstate flying, all designed to place American aviation, for the first time, on a firm and uniform foundation.

"Arrangements have already been made by which a new division of navigational aids to aviation will be established in the Bureau of Lighthouses, which will take over the Post Office activities of the mail routes of lighting, marking and emergency landing fields, and provide for their rapid extension," Hoover declared, adding:

"Investigation on a large scale is being initiated in development of radio directional work, and is considered of the utmost importance."

"In this work the Bureau of Standards has the cooperation of the Guggenheim foundation, the Army air corps and other governmental agencies."

"There are also problems in the perfection of lighting services under investigation which will be exhaustively developed by the Bureau of Standards. Already some advanced work in this direction has been accomplished by the Bureau of Standards in cooperation with the Bureau of Lighthouses."

Five to Testify Against Gaines

(By Universal Service)

SEATTLE, Aug. 10.—When the Bob Gaines murder trial is resumed tomorrow, five witnesses will take the stand to testify about a quarrel the accused father is known to have had with his daughter, Silvia, who was found brutally slain on the shore of Green Lake June 17.

OBJECT TO BIRTHDAY CLOTHING

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Calif., Aug. 10. Just how many clothes should a two year old boy wear when playing in his own back yard? The Berkeley police, who have many curious problems to answer, were faced with this question today.

Mrs. Maurice Friedman was questioned by police who held a report by a neighbor that Bruce, Mrs. Friedman's son, appeared in his birthday suit for play.

"The doctor's gave him up to die a year ago," Mrs. Friedman countered, "So I put him out to let the sun cure him. It has and he's going to go on playing without any clothes on."

To support her claim she produced doctor's certificates. Police have taken the question under advisement and Bruce still cavors an nature in the Friedman yard.

By LOUISE E. LANDIS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—A fortune of 25,000,000 pounds sterling, left in Australia 41 years ago at the death of A. Hollander, whose heirs are being sought by British authorities, may introduce a brilliant young San Francisco artist to the world.

His mother is Mrs. Emil Stern, 3261 Scott street, San Francisco, who is a claimant to the Hollander fortune. She declares that Hollander was her great-uncle, and that at his death, he left his entire fortune to her mother, Mrs. Frank Stern.

The elder Mrs. Stern died before receiving her bequest, and as numerous other claims were made upon the inheritance by other relatives of Hollander, her daughter never hoped to possess a share of it, she said today.

She married her first cousin, whose name was Stern also, and (Continued on page 4)

OFFICIALS HOLD CONFERENCE ON FOREIGN CRISIS

Coolidge Holds Conference by Wire on The French Debt
And Mexican Crisis

By JOHN T. LAMBRETT

(By Universal Service)

PAUL SMITHS N. Y., August 10.

Troubled by the tense situations provoked by the French debt and Mexico's religious battle, President Coolidge was in secret conference with Washington for hours today.

The conferences were held over the telephone wire which directly connects the White House at Washington with the President's executive office here.

Extreme precautions were taken to guard the messages which passed, presumably between the President and the State Department.

All wires which are used at times to connect with newspaper offices and commercial telegraph offices were ordered closed while the series of messages passed between Paul Smiths and Washington. All operators along the six hundred mile route were given strictest instructions not to listen in.

President Coolidge regards the strife between state and church in Mexico as an internal matter, in which foreign nations would be unwarranted in interfering. The possibility that American lives may be taken in any disorders which arise throws the threatening shadow across the administration. In such event, some form of (Continued on Page 8)

WHAT DOES YOUR WIFE DO?

MAN WHO GAVE MILLION AWAY IS DIVORCED

(By Universal Service)

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Aug. 10.—Charles Garland, eccentric young millionaire famous for giving away the million dollars he inherited and founding a love cult of his own, found himself without a wife today.

Mrs. Mary Garland was granted an uncontested divorce from him and given the custody of their three children. Mrs. Garland, daughter of wealthy parents, and Garland were married shortly after he left Harvard. They separated at the time he founded the first of his two successive love colonies.

Mrs. Garland named Bettina Hovey, her husband's "soul mate," as co-respondent. Mrs. Hovey has brought Garland much into the public prints in recent months.

The only witness at the divorce hearing was Paul Scott, teacher and writer, who testified that he had seen Garland and Miss Hovey at their shack on "April" Farm, near Allentown, Pa. The entire furnishings of the cabin, he said, consisted of a stove, a chair, and a baby's crib.

A letter told the court of the birth of Miss Hovey's child and its death, which brought about an investigation by the police and resulted in the disbanding of the colony.

A letter from Garland was introduced into the evidence. It vowed eternal love for his wife and children, but stated that the latter were better off with their mother.

Allimony was not mentioned.

Various Issues At Stake Are Revealed In Election Returns From Neb. and Ohio Primaries

(By Universal Service)

CMAHA, August 10.—Adam McMullen, Klan candidate for governor and backed by the Anti-saloon league, is running ahead of Fred G. Johnson, his nearest opponent in first returns for today's primary election.

In Douglas county where a hot fight was waged for the sheriff's position with 19 candidates running, Charlie McDonald, Republican is running ahead of Joe C. Kousty, who openly fought the Klan for the Democratic nomination. Don John Hopkins, American Legion candidate, Anti Klan and Anti-Prohibition was leading on the Republican ticket.

Ex-Governor Charlie Bryan and Vice-presidential nominee in 1924, has no opposition on the Democratic side for governor.

POMERENE CONFIDENT
Cleveland, August 10.—Fairly respective returns from approximately one-fifth of the precincts in the state at midnight indicate the following results in the Ohio primaries today.

Nomination of Former Senator Allen Pomerene for U. S. senator over Supreme Court Judge Florence E. Allen, by an estimated plurality of between 20,000 and 30,000.

2. Renomination of Vic Donahey, Democrat for the third term by a lead of 2 to 1 over his nearest competitor.

3. Renomination of Senator Frank Willis Republican by a vote that may bulk very large when all returns are in.

4. Myers Cooper, and Thad Brown in a close race for the Republican nomination for Governor.

5. Decisive defeat of Joseph Seiber, the Klan candidate, in the Republican gubernatorial contest.

As the situation stands tonight, based on indicated results, Ohio will be the most spectacular battleground of the whole country in the November elections with the wet and dry issues, Klu Kluxes and the Democratic presidential prospects of 1928 involved.

Behind the Pomerene candidacy is said to be an elaborate program to put him forward as the harmony candidate for the Democratic nomination for president two years hence provided he can step out now and carry the state in November over Senator Willis.

Woman Juror In McPherson Case Fails To Produce The Data Last Seen With Her

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—The question of asking Superior Judge Keetch to dismiss a grand juror in whose hands the missing Carmel-by-the-Sea evidence in the Almeda Semple McPherson case was last seen, was up before the county grand jury this afternoon, according to reports from the grand jury room no action had been taken in the matter up to 3 o'clock.

The suspected juror, said to be a woman, failed to produce the evidence on demand this morning. The grand jury is reported to have decided to bar the juror from the jury room this afternoon while it voted on the proposed dismissal.

The missing evidence consisted of two grocery lists found at the Carmel cottage, where Kenneth G. Ormiston, according to his purported affidavit, remained for ten days, late in May, with a woman whom he designated as "Miss X." The grocery lists were made out in a woman's handwriting, according to investigators, and were considered vital evidence in the McPherson case investigation. They disappeared from the grand jury room last Tuesday when the McPherson investigation was being considered by the jurors.

Photostatic copies of the grocery lists are in the hands of the District attorney's investigators, and may be used as evidence in event the case ever reaches the courts.

Judge Keetch, judicial adviser of the grand jury, stated the matter of action in the case depended entirely upon the report of the jury concerning the disappearance of the evidence.

OUR PROSPERITY

Another measure of the prosperity of the United States may be found in the fact that capital, deposits and resources of the banks of the United States are greater now than at any time in the history of the republic. The figures were given recently by R. N. Sims, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks for the annual convention at Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Sims stated that a total of more than 28,000 banks in the United States, 20,289 were state institutions and 8,000 national banks. These banks have a total capital, surplus and undivided profits of more than seven billions, total deposits of more than 54 billions, and resources of more than 63 billions. Deposits increased over three billions, and total resources increased $3,487,607,427 over the highest totals of the year previous. All of the banking business of the United States in both state and national banks has increased more than forty per cent since 1919, when his first report was made, according to Mr. Sims.

This imposing percentage of increase will give us some idea of the growth and development of the United States during the past six or eight years. The country is now pretty well over the reconstruction period following the war and is once more on the high road of progress and prosperity.

There are still some pessimistic voices but they are growing fewer each year. For the present year, despite the unsettled condition of Europe increased business is expected for the autumn months and it is now being predicted that the price of wheat may go to two dollars a bushel.

There is no question about the material prosperity of the United States. Let us see that in the rush of business and progress we do not forget the fundamental principles of government which made such progress and prosperity possible.

HALF-TIME PARENTS

A British police officer says the bad boy of today is the result of the half-time parent. There is something in that. The boy who comes home from school and finds the garage empty and realizes his parents are absent, intent on business and pleasure of their own, is thrown upon his own resources and that of the neighborhood gang. The gang may not be composed of bad boys; simply neglected ones, boys with whom their mothers do not care to be bothered. The result is mischief then petty crime and finally felonies. A half-time parent is neglecting his main responsibility.—South Bend Tribune.

It is said that an American has four chances in 100,000 of living a century. Don't spoil your own prospect of being one of the four by racing your car against the locomotive at the grade crossing.—Boston Transcript.

BEAUTY HINTS

By Peggy Hopkins Joyce
Perspiring feet may cause no end of trouble and embarrassment. Sometimes it is necessary to take measures more rigorous than the regular daily bath.

If so, the following foot-bath may be found helpful if used every other day. Wash the feet in a basin of warm water to which ten drops of sulphuric acid has been added. Dry them well and dust the soles with alum powder. This should alleviate the difficulty, and is not in any way harmful.

WHY BOYS LEAVE HOME—

TESTED RECIPES FOR A LONG LIFE

By Alumni of the Three-Score-and-Ten Society

By MRS. THOMAS WHIFFEN, 80
(Oldest Actress Playing On Broadway.)

"Eat simple food. Keep on working." is the tested recipe for the long and active life of Mrs. Whiffen who has been on the stage for 58 years. The secret of her long career is simply one of rugged good sense, which she condenses into the following precepts:

"Eat simple food, not much meat, and eat at regular hours."

"Get plenty of sleep."

"Keep on working. Any interest helps to keep one young; but there seems a special benefit in work that interests you."

"I'm still in the game, as the young folks say, and I am still there because I keep myself fit. I have always lived a regular, simple life. Hard work doesn't make any one sick or old either. It is self-indulgence the plays havoc with out minds and bodies."

By Archibald

JOSEPH LEITER

In 1879 Joseph Leiter of Chicago, was the greatest individual holder of wheat in the history of the grain market. At that time he had cornered 40,000,000 bushels of wheat and had boosted the price up from 73c to $1.85. If he had sold at that figure he would have made a profit of $3,000,000 on that one deal. The opposition however put one over on him by sending ice-breakers up the Great Lakes and clearing the frozen water at Duluth, from which point enough grain was brought in to smash the corner and tumble the price to fifty cents. Leiter lost about $10,000,000, of which $5,000,000 was assumed by his father, a very wealthy Chicago merchant. This affair made Leiter one of the most talked-of men of that day.

Besides the wheat corner Leiter was constitutionally fond of engaging in spectacular transactions. At another time, after the collapse he attempted to engineer a project to buy the Great Wall of China in order to preserve that world's wonder for posterity.

Today Leiter has reclaimed his losses to a great extent and is again a millionaire—mostly from the proceeds of coal mining and his connection with the Washington, D. C., Gas company.

"Fast simple food, not much meat, and eat at regular hours."

"Get plenty of sleep."

"Keep on working. Any interest helps to keep one young; but there seems a special benefit in work that interests you."

"I'm still in the game, as the young folks say, and I am still there because I keep myself fit. I have always lived a regular, simple life. Hard work doesn't make any one sick or old either. It is self-indulgence the plays havoc with out minds and bodies."

"I have heard him speak of her with deep emotion as the friend from whom he derived those lessons in courage, energy, perseverance and arduous labor that have guided him through life."

Professor (to student): "Why are you so far behind in your studies?"

Student: "So I can pursue them better."

Guest: "Waiter, there is a fly in my ice cream."

Waiter: "Let him freeze and teach him a lesson. The little rascal was in the soup last night."

THE PRODIGAL

It is much easier to keep the golden prize of a husband than to snatch it back from flappers' clutches. Watch your tattle if you want to keep yourself the brightest star of night. Sometimes the path men take away from their wives is so rosy and perfumed that they have gone further along than they were aware till the awakening came. Then wives with arms outstretched are pathetically making a frantic appeal for the love once unshared. Or are turned into venomous beasts that long to bury their fangs into the beautiful thief that has stolen him away. Or often without a whimper she bears a sacrifice like this covertly.

Possibly the man yielded in some intoxicating moment when someone has flung herself at him with her winsome ways. "Men are never as good as their mothers think, nor as bad as their enemies say." If they want to come back, might it not pay to be forgiving? PROVERB: It cost more to revenge injuries than to bear them. (Wilson.)

LOVE CONFESSIONS OF FAMOUS MEN

THE UNHAPPY LOVE OF KEATS

John Keats' romance with Fanny Brawne is one of the outstanding true love tales of the world. He loved this girl with a passion that not many of us are capable of feeling and yet she remained practically indifferent either to his love or the great genius of the man himself. She even at times considered Keats an annoyance. There can of course be no blame attached to her; not even Keats can have the power to arouse love in a woman whose heart is closed to him. It is only to the sympathetic onlooker that the sight of one of the greatest poets the world has produced writhing in torture before a girl very much beneath him becomes a tragic matter.

FANNY BRAWNE

Death cut off Keats while he was still a young man and his death came as a release to Fanny. Though she thought she was tied to him by moral obligations it is doubtful if she would have married him had he lived.

Keats poured out his love in a series of letters that are among the most ardent in existence. One of these letters follows:

"My sweet girl—your letter gave me more delight than anything in the world but yourself could do; indeed, I am almost astonished that any absent one should have that luxurious power over my senses which I feel. Even when I am not thinking of you I receive your influence and I feel a tender nature stealing over me. All my thoughts, all my unhappiest days and nights have, I find, not cured me of my love of beauty but made it so intense that I am miserable that you are not with me."

"I never knew before what such a love as you have made me feel was; I did not believe in it. My fancy was afraid of it. I find it should burn me up. But if you will fully love me, though there may be some fire, 'twill not be more than we can bear when moistened and bedewed with pleasure."

At eight o'clock the members met at the Red Men's hall and from there went to the municipal natatorium where they enjoyed a long swim.

Returning, they adjourned to the lot adjoining the hall where a roaring fire kept countless "hot dogs" sizzling, sending a welcome odor into the night breeze. Coffee in gigantic pots boiled and bubbled merrily and the rolls were crisp and brown.

The exercise at the pool, coupled with the night wind made everybody hungry and the weiners soon disappeared.

When the feast was over and the last crumb had disappeared, the strains of music came floating from the hall. Chick Barry and his orchestra was rendering jazz that set everybody upon their toes.

The members entered the decorated hall and dance until the wee small hours of the morning.

All who attended declared the affair to have been one of the most successful staged by the local tribe for some time and much credit was given Dan Nozicka and his committee for the successful way the event was staged.

"Sandy" Wanted Thrills

Madge Bellamy, as "Sandy" and Bardson Bard in a scene from Eleonore Meherin's daring novel "SANDY" which opens a two day engagement at the California today.

M. BELLAMY IS COLEEN MOORE
STAR OF 'SANDY' IN 'IRENE' AT
AT CALIFORNIA THE RICHMOND

Madge Bellamy, declared by Penrhyn Stanlaws to be the most beautiful girl in America, was made doubly nappy before the year 1926 was a week old.

It was while Miss Bellamy was engaged with Frank Borsage in making "The Dixie Merchant" that she was advised of a high honor conferred upon her by Winfield R. Sheehan, general manager of the Fox organization.

"You have been selected to portray the title role in 'Sandy,'" was the thrilling gist of the message received by Miss Bellamy.

At the time she was informed that the Fox organization had decided to extend her contract.

In "Sandy," one of the most gripping serials of recent years, Eleonore Meherin—gifted San Francisco author—has given the screen one of the most striking figures ever shown upon the silver sheet. "Sandy" runs the gamut of human emotions and finishes her life in indestructible woe.

This serial published in hundreds of newspapers throughout the United States, was read by millions. The picture will be shown at the California Theatre today and tomorrow.

Miss Bellamy, selected from a list of several hundred stars was regarded as the ideal girl for the doubly pathetic part. "Sandy" or Fox Films will be the same "Sandy" of the Meherin serial and the story will be filmed in absolute Unsell.

Miss Bellamy will be surrounded by a specially chosen cast, including Leslie Fenton, Bardson Bard, Harrison Ford, David Torrence, Edyth Chapman, Charles Farrell, Gloria Hope and others. Harry Beaumont, who directed John Barrymore in his most pretentious film offerings, also directed the filming of "Sandy."

Other features include "A Flaming Affair," an Imperial comedy; "Songs of Italy;" "International News;" and an added attraction "Brunswick Panatrophe," the new sensation with Maurice Gunsky, the KPO radio favorite singing "Lay My Head Beneath A Rose," with organ accompaniment by Larry Canelo.

Miss Edna Hall, 21 Idaho street has left for Colorado where she will spend her vacation.

DOING THE SPORTING THING

By JOE ARCHIBALD

"The greatest coach of pitchers in the world," says Connie Mack, of Ira Thomas, who will be remembered as something of a catcher in the old days.
Last year, when the Athletics were burning up the American League, after trailing seven straight years in the cellar, few realized the reason for the sudden rejuvenation. The reason was Ira Thomas, who dropped the managerial reins in Eberesport of the Southern league, to build up Mack's pitching staff.
Thomas "made" Bryan Harris who pitched five straight seasons of losing ball. Sam Gray owes his success to the old veteran. He changed Gray's pitching style entirely and immediate success was the result. In one short season, he made over an entire pitching staff. That pitching staff is now pitching with the brains of Ira Thomas, a coach who's working behind the scenes far from the plaudits of the crowd.

Hugh Bats Bring Terror to Mexico

(By Universal Service)
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—Blood sucking bats measuring twenty inches from tip to tip and extended wings, are reported to be terrorizing inhabitants of the Southern Mexican state of Oaxaca, as the Egyptians were terrorized by the biblical plagues.
Martiano Caso, an Oaxaca farmer who just arrived here to procure expert medical treatment for a young son, reports that so many children and animals have died in his native state recently from loss of blood due to bats there is a movement on foot to appoint a commission to come to the capital and request the federal government's aid in the matter.
Six children, ranging in age from six months to four years, died in one night from silent visitations of blood sucking bats, according to Senor Caso, and this in one small town.
Adults are by no means free from the unwelcome attentions of the giant bats. Senor Caso asserted they suffer immediate death less frequently than do the children but often are so weakened from loss of blood that their debilitated systems render them easy victims to tuberculosis and other diseases. Unless attacked by disease while still weakened by loss of blood, adults usually recover, though they may be incapacitated for a long period of time by weakness.
The bats are said to be able to enter bedrooms noiselessly, settle down upon their sleeping victims with less disturbance than a falling leaf and suck blood so painlessly that even slight sleepers are not awakened, except sometimes by a subconscious warning that something is wrong.

Papers Declare Prohibition in Finland A Joke

(By Universal Service)
By O. D. TOLICHUS
BERLIN, Aug. 10.—Prohibition has proved a complete fiasco in Finland.

This is the judgment of Svenska Pressen, a Finnish newspaper which made a survey of the effects of prohibition on the seventh anniversary of its introduction.

Consumption of alcohol may not have increased under prohibition, the paper says, but it has become much more dangerous, in physical and especially moral effects.

The paper lists the evils of prohibition as follows:

The Finnish people, formerly known as the most law-abiding in the world, have now become one of the most lawless.

Nobody pays any attention to the prohibition laws. Everybody drinks.

Honesty and uprightness have been replaced by hypocrisy and lies.

Enormous sums are spent in bootlegging business and run-running. The state has lost the revenues from licensed alcohol sale and must spend millions besides in trying to enforce prohibition.

"The seventh anniversary of the introduction of prohibition should be a day of prayer and penance for the whole country," the paper concludes, "but especially for the adherents of prohibition."

"Unfortunately, the sense of shame has not yet awakened in these people, or else they would not talk of new rigorous laws, more supervision and still more drastic interference in the freedom of our fellow-citizens."

Now that baseball season will soon be over the sporting writers are starting their clamor as to who will win the championships. The New York Yankees are touted to win the American League flag and the Pittsburgh Pirates are holding on to the lead in the National League.

But accidents will happen.

DEMPSEY
Many fears are now being shed for the "champion" Jack Dempsey, for yesterday Jack was denied a license to fight Gene Tunney in defense of his title. A license was granted Tunney but Jack is regarded as a bad, bad boy who should be spanked, thus his license to have a bit of exercise with Tunney was denied.

GOLF
Not long ago Los Angeles staged a $10,000 golf play and now San Francisco has decided that she will not let Los Angeles get ahead of her so she is going to stage a golf round at some San Francisco link for a $6,000 prize, that is if a link can be found that is hard enough.

MORE GOLF
Although Mrs. Frank Seely was slated to win the medal play at the women's tournament staged in San Francisco she came through third with Mrs. Brent Potter of San Jose winning all honors. Mrs. Potter took a smart 40-40-80, just four strokes ahead of Mrs. C. F.

ADMITS GIFT OF $2,500 TO PRIMARY FUNDS

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—E. J. Davis, directing manager of the Better Government association, admitted today that Senator McKinley gave him $2,500 for the Cook county primary campaign.

So far as the records show, this amount was not included in any information laid before the committee during the recent Chicago sittings by either Col. Henry I. Green, paymaster of the McKinley forces and Chester Willoughby, the senator's secretary.

While technically it is listed as a donation to the local county campaign, indirectly, McKinley benefitted, as Davis himself became an ardent supporter on the senator through the campaign. Other leaders in the B. G. A. also did good service for McKinley.

Chairman Reed of the senate committee has reached the conclusion that all such funds should be put in the record as a part of the senatorial expenditures.

What other sums Senator McKinley, as well as Col. Frank may have employed in this fashion the committee, it is believed, would like to know.

Chester Willoughby, the senators' secretary, stated in Washington Monday that there was no record of any money having passed from Senator McKinley to Davis. Col. Green when on the witness stand, did not mention such a contribution.

The assumption yesterday was that the senator may have given this sum to Davis without informing either his secretary or Col. Green of the transaction.

Davis yesterday, with the permission of Senator McKinley, sent a brief letter to Senator Reed, admitting the $2,500 contribution from McKinley. He denied, however, that any other moneys had come to the B. G. A. from this source.

In his letter to Senator Reed, after admitting the $2,500 gift, Davis says:

Senator McKinley's private and public record throughout shows his interest in the kind of work the association is doing and his willingness to help such work regardless of any direct or indirect benefit to himself."

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Miller, 512 Kilson Avenue will leave on Saturday morning by motor for Cayucus, where they will spend their vacation.

Companies Send Scoutmaster to Aid Scout Camp

The Contra Costa Council of Boy Scouts of America considers itself fortunate in securing aid from several large industrial organizations at the recent summer camp. Appreciation for the work done and time given by the Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters was shown by allowing full pay for all Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters during the summer camp.

The companies contributing men were: C and H Sugar Refinery of Crockett who furnished one man per week for each week of camp. The men from Crockett were, Ernest Watrous, A. Baker, E. T. Lewis and Mr. Hill. Standard Oil of Richmond sent Louis Rasmussen for one week. Associated Oil of Avon sent G. P. Jackson for one week. Mountain Copper sent L. T. Devel.

Several scout leaders and men interested in scouting who volunteered their time and services were: Jimmie Duane of Martinez and Billie Avise of Walnut Creek who spent four weeks in camp assisting Mr. Warner; E. W. Newell, Walnut Creek; Harold Garrard, George P. Glineberg, Louis Rasmussen, Richmond; Galen Richardson, Brentwood; George P. Jackson, Concord and Bob Deidrick of Oakland spent week-ends in camp each giving instruction in his particular line of scouting.

Executive Warner says the success of the camp was assured by this timely aid from the different companies and the volunteer assistance of these men.

President Visits Homes of Working Men in Vermont

(By Universal Service)

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., Aug. 10. So long as he is president Calvin Coolidge intends to make regular pilgrimages to the homes, farms, and workshops of the plain American citizens who make their country what it is today.

That was a basic object of his weeks sojourn among the humble villagers of his native Vermont, it was announced today.

The man who can mend a harness, sole his children's shoes, mend his fences or repair his house is the man who keeps America going and upon whom the country must depend for its progress, prosperity and safety, the president believes.

He feels there is always the danger that officials in high places of authority may forget how the average man lives and what he needs. He frankly confesses he finds it helpful to go back occasionally and live among them lest he forget or grows out of sympathy with the plain people who really carry on the nation.

FRANCE FAILS TO CAPITALIZE GERMAN DEBT

By H. M. STANSBURG

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, August 10.—A secret international financial conference here has just decided that France cannot hope for relief from the proposal to capitalize the German indemnity to be paid under the Dawes Plan. The scheme is declared to be both unsound and impracticable.

It was unanimously agreed that the money markets of the world would not absorb such securities. The meeting is understood to have been called at the suggestion of the Poincare government. Attending it were S. Parker Gilbert, for the United States; Montague Dorman, president of the Bank of England; Henry Bell, foreign manager for Lloyd's; M. Armentier, for France; and German representatives.

Under the Dawes plan France gets 50 per cent of the indemnity payments from Germany. High hopes were said to have entertained by the Poincare government of obtaining large sums of cash at an early date in this way. The unfavorable decision is understood to be responsible for the new slump in the franc in the last two days.

The financiers participating in the conference are members of the so-called Dawes Transfer committee. No news of their deliberations has been published until now.

The financial affairs of Belgium were also discussed at the conference without successful result.

Benjamin Strong, of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, was in England at the time of the conference but did not take part; on learning of the results he left for Holland to meet Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank. Schacht is understood to have made direct proposals to France for financial assistance based upon the early withdrawal of French troops from occupied German territory.

It is not known whether Dr. Schacht speaks with authority of the German government. The part which Strong is attempting to play in European financial tangles is even more mysterious. He has been very active in France and England for many weeks but denies he is here on any official business.

Amend Bank Plans to Meet City Ordinance

Changes in plans for the construction of the new bank building of the Mercantile Trust company at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue will be made to conform with the plumbing ordinance. This decision was reached after a conference between the building committee, City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley, representing the city and officials of the bank.

The bank sought to encase pipes in the outer walls of new building and requested the city council for permission. The council, not wishing to violate its own ordinance referred the matter to the building inspector and the building committee, consisting of Councilmen W. W. Scott and John I. Collins. Hurley stated that the officials of the bank when they learned that chasing of pipe in the walls was against the city plumbing ordinance readily agreed to make the changes, removing the pipes outside the wall.

Mrs. Hall Released on Bail

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the victim of the fashionable Episcopal Church in New Brunswick, N. J., won a victory when Justice Gummere of the Supreme Court, at a habeas corpus hearing in Point Pleasant, N. J., ordered her release from jail on a $15,000 bond. The justice's action was checkmated for prosecutor Francis Bergen, of Somerset county, who resurrected the four-year-old Halls-Mills murder mystery and caused the arrest of Mrs. Hall on the charge of the double murder of her husband, the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the sexton of her husband's church. Photo shows Mrs. Hall with friends and attorneys after her release from jail. Left to right: Edwin Carpenter, Mrs. Edwin Carpenter, cousin of the accused; Augustus Stuber, attorney for Mrs. Hall; Mrs. Frances S. Hall and Timothy N. Pfeiffer, attorney for Mrs. Hall.

Reprieve Is Denied To Candy Kid By Governor Ritchie; May Carry Appeal To Supreme Court

(By Universal Service)

BAITIMORE, Md., Aug. 10.—Governor Ritchie today denied a reprieve to Richard Reese Whittemore so that the bandit's new counsel, a negro, may carry the fight for the "Candy Kid" life to the United States Supreme Court on the grounds that he did not have a fair trial before Judge Eugene O'Donne. In denying the reprieve Governor Ritchie said that his mind is made up and that he will do nothing to interfere with the execution which is set for next Friday.

At the same time Rawlings V. Whittemore, father of the bandit, announced that he will see his son hanged. He said that he has no ticket of admittance from the warden but he doesn't lack of the card will keep him away.

Margaret Whittemore, the wife of the Candy Kid, will not see the execution, said the elder Whittemore.

END OF CHURCH CRISIS SEEN BY PRESENT STATE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—Leaving his sick bed where he has been confined for ten days following his countless services for the Catholic interests in Mexico, Archbishop Mora Y. Del Rio today again assumed active leadership for the church in the struggle with the secular authority.

In spite of his 74 years, the veteran prelate conferred lengthily with loyal followers relative to events since August 1, giving special attention to reports from outlying communities where church spokesmen claim the Catholic ranks are standing firm against the new regulation.

The state and church deadlock continues with no sign of a settlement but indications are regarded as forecasting a gradual abatement of feeling and the resumption of religious ceremonies without a formal surrender or agreement involving either side.

President Calles in not closing the churches is viewed as leaving the way open for a tacit understanding.

In the meantime the economic boycott is undoubtedly cutting both ways, injuring Catholics and Non-Catholics alike.

The belief is growing that the struggle will drag on for weeks and perhaps for months without any formal settlement but with gradual progress toward an ultimate solution terminating active opposition.

France Votes Plan to Fund Her Hugh Debts

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Aug. 10.—In spite of storming interruptions by Communists and Socialists the French National Assembly meeting at Versailles tonight at 10 o'clock voted an amortization bank, a significant move to pay off France's heavy domestic debt which became a part of France's constitution by a vote of 671 to 144.

American diplomatic intervention would follow.

It was definitely announced that James R. Sheffield, the American Ambassador, will come to this country soon to make an intimate verbal report to the President. He will come to White Pine Camp. Rumors that the State Department is preparing or has sent some form of protest to Mexico persist. President Coolidge, it was said, officially knows that the State Department had been in frequent correspondence with Mexico on the Alien Lands Laws, which, some American investors feared, would ultimately result in confiscation of their property, but he is unaware of any notes to Mexico in the immediate past.

President Coolidge, it was said, has always insisted that American property shall be protected in accordance with the Warren-Payne agreement and he will pursue that policy aggressively to the end.

The report that the President had discussed the Mexican religious contest with President Calles over long-distance phone was again officially denied.

That an audience here with the President was sought by James A. Flaherty, head of the Knights of Columbus, to present the Philadelphia resolution for a break with Mexico, was confirmed. But the audience will probably not take place. It is understood that the Knights were requested to take up the matter directly with the State Department at Washington.

The Ku Klux Klan, in their official publications, have taken a stand with President Calles in the troubles. The Klan is scheduled to hold its national convocation in Washington about the time of President Coolidge's arrival there in September. It is the Flaherty audience was granted here, the Klan would doubtless request a similar audience there. Whatever action the President might subsequently take, might later be interpreted as favoring either the Knights of Columbus or the Klan.

Clemenceau's bitter attack upon the ideals of the United States is certain to be answered. It is generally regarded here. Either President Coolidge will reply directly or Secretary of State Kellogg or some other administration spokesman will challenge the insult and will state America's debt viewpoint to the world in an early speech.

At the regular conference with the newspaper correspondent today, the Presidential spokesman passed over all questions relation to the Clemenceau tirade.

Secretary Hoover, a member of the American Debt Funding commission, will be here over the week-end to discuss the debt and business conditions with the President.

Business is exceedingly prosperous and the President is anxious that the government shall take any steps that may be necessary to brace possible future weak-spots.

Windsor Library Houses Numerous Costly Paintings

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Royal Library at Windsor Castle, one of the residences of King George, houses one of the most valuable collections of pictures and drawings in the world.

There are in all 18,000 drawings in the library, including the famous Holbein heads and drawings by Paul Sanby. Of 500 known drawings by Leonardo da Vinci, 500 are in the Royal collection.

Early manuscripts, illuminated missals, autographed letters from famous people, are included in the collection, while a cosmopolitan note is given to the library by the inclusion of works by such authors as Rider Haggard.

The Royal Library was built in the main by Queen Elizabeth, whose ghost is said to haunt the room. It was considerably added to and enriched by Charles II, and since then various kings have extended the collection.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Bidley have returned to their home, 524 Tenth street from Mendocino county where they spent a two weeks vacation.

Detention Home Not in Danger Probe Shows

MARTINEZ, Aug. 9.—Although it was reported to the county Board of Supervisors that the new county detention home erected at a cost of $40,000 last year was sinking and was in a dangerous condition the county board failed to find any damage of any consequence in the new building. Reported that the walls of the building were settling and the plaster cracking it was found, upon close observation, that the plaster cracking was caused by the shrinkage of laths.

All fears of danger to the inmates of the home was laid at rest by the thorough examination by the board.
